All parts of the Bible are full of divine truths; but the truths that men need to know most are those which centre in Christ. Study the book of the Acts and learn the apostolic modes of preaching. The sermons of Peter and Paul are full of Christ. The historic facts about him--that he taught, was crucified, and rose from the dead--are the basis for the assurance that men may be forgiven and may have eternal life in Christ s name. The Holy Spirit with the Word--Peter preached the truth about Christ, and at once God made the truth effective. He came while Peter was speaking. Ought not preachers and teachers to expect that the Holy Spirit will come even while they speak, and make God s were. Print a name at each end. Now Peter was a disciple of Jesus. Cornelius may have heard a little about Jesus when Philip preached in Csesarea, but he did not know enough to believe in Jesus as his Saviour. Yet, although Cornelius was not a Jew but a Gentile (teach word applied to those not Jews), he believed in the true God and loved to pray to him. Peter and Cornelius were a long way from each other, yet their prayers went up to the same God, who heard them and sent down his blessing. (Indicate rays of light. Converging lines may be drawn from each end of the straight horizontal line, thus completing the...
